

Vietnam Veteran's Memorial Dedication Ceremony

Saturday, November 21, 2015

*10:00am at the Vietnam Veteran's Memorial
in Martin Luther King, Jr. Plaza
Across from the
Veterans of Foreign Wars
Stockton Civic Auditorium
513 N. Center St. Stockton, CA*

Memorials are cold, hard stone. They stand, impervious, to weather, both fair and foul over the passing days and years. But behind each memorial are people...and memories...and events that shaped our country and our community.

The Vietnam War was one such conflict that both brought together and divided our country. The men who fought this war came home without the recognition they deserved. The Stockton Vietnam Veteran's Memorial was one of the first such memorials that recognized the men who gave all – the 59 men who were on the original stone with an additional two added in later years.

Since the original dedication in 1973 more names have been brought forth – an additional six names have been added to the new Memorial. However, this monument honors more than our dead sons, fathers, brothers, husbands...it is also a testament to those who came home...

All are invited to join us for this dedication.
