About the award

The California Outstanding Volunteer Award recognizes a non-veteran volunteer who gave their time and talent to support women veterans. This award is part of CalVet's ongoing effort to lead and engage California communities to serve veterans, where they live and work.

Criteria for the award

The 2014 California Outstanding Volunteer Award In Service To Women Veterans. The selection criteria focuses on the nominee's commitment to women veterans and their influence on the community.

Restrictions:

- Must be a California resident.
- Cannot be the winner of any of last year's three conference awards or any similar award from CalVet in the current year.
- Cannot be a veteran.

Who can make a nomination for the award

Nominations will be accepted from anyone. We especially encourage submissions from veterans, Veterans Service Organizations (VSOs), County Veterans Service Officers (CVSOs), and other veterans groups.

How to make a nomination for the awards

Completed nomination forms must be received by close of business June 5, 2014 to be considered for the 2014 Summit on Women Veterans. Nomination forms are available online at <https://www.calvet.ca.gov/WomenVets/Pages/2014-Conference.aspx>. You may also call (916) 653-1402 to request the form through email, fax, or mail. The forms and the narrative must be completed and submitted in writing explaining why the volunteer is being nominated for the award; the narrative must be 100-500 words in length. If applicable, you may attach copies of newspaper articles, photos of achievements and/or recognition for further consideration. The better the write up, the more we can consider and score your nominee for the award. If the nomination form is not submitted, the person will not be considered.

How the recipient will be selected for the award

The 2014 Summit Planning Committee will score each nominee and select the person with the highest score. The selection criteria focuses on the nominee's achievements in the military, in support of veterans, her commitment to women veterans' issues, and as a citizen in service of her hometown, the state of California and the United States of America.

About the recipient

The recipient of the California Volunteer of the Year Award will be recognized and awarded at the 2014 Summit, recognized in the Summit booklet and included in the CalVet Women Veterans Newsletter.
